Crime Analysis

A set of systematic, analytical processes directed at providing timely and pertinent information relative to crime patterns and trend correlations to assist the operational and administrative personnel in planning the deployment of resources for the prevention and suppression of criminal activities, aiding the investigative process, and increasing apprehensions and the clearance of cases. Within this context, Crime Analysis supports a number of department functions including patrol deployment, special operations, and tactical units, investigations, planning and research, crime prevention, and administrative services (budgeting and program planning). --Steven Gottlieb et al., 1994, "Crime Analysis: From First Report to Final Arrest."

SUBJECT: Crime Analysis Report January 2018

During the month of January 2018, the Guilford Police Department had the following Part 1 and selected Part 2 Crimes reported: Reference Appendix A for further information. This information was compiled via the NEXGEN system utilizing a query of all Part 1 Crimes and select Part 2 crimes from the computer database. A full review of each queried case file report was completed.

The Guilford Police Department investigated 865 cases for the month of January. This is a twelve percent (12%) decrease in calls from the previous month.

Burglary Cases

There were no reported Burglaries for the month of January.

This is a one hundred percent (100%) decrease in burglaries from December to January.

There was no crime pattern developed, thus no response plan was developed.

Criminal Mischief Cases:

There was a total of nine (9) criminal mischief cases filed for the month of January. This is a thirty (30%) percent decrease in criminal mischief cases from December to January. Eight (8) of these cases were to public property, one (1) to public property.

The times and dates reported are depicted in the graphic representation. Some of these are the time the report was filed and not the time at which the crime is being committed. Six of the nine cases show an accurate representation of the time these crimes were committed. The others were reported after the damage was observed and the exact time and date of the occurrence is unknown.

Six of the nine cases involved mailboxes being damaged. The incidents all would seem to be taking place during the late evening hours on the weekends. There was one case in which a suspect was identified, however the complainant is undecided on pursuing charges.

There were no identifiable patterns nor significant modus operandi for the remaining criminal mischief cases.

Reference Appendix B for a graphic representation.

Larceny Cases:

There were twenty-four (24) larceny cases reported during the month of January. Five (5) of the twenty-one cases were solved. There were (2) arrests made as a result of these larceny cases. There is one (1) case in which the suspect has been identified and the investigation is ongoing. There are a remaining five (5) cases in which the suspect employed a significant Modus Operandi, has been identified, however the investigations are ongoing.

The larceny types are as follows: nineteen (19) thefts from a motor vehicle, three (3) shopliftings, and two (2) general larcenies.

For seventeen (17) of these larceny cases the exact date and time that the larceny occurred has not been determined. Thus, the date and time shown reflects only that of the date/time reported.

The number of larceny cases increased fourteen percent (14%) from December to January.

There were eight (8) incidents of catalytic converters being removed from parked vehicles. An arrest was made for three of the cases with the remainder still being investigated. The thefts from motor vehicle larcenies nearly all involved items being removed from unlocked motor vehicles. The department has attempted to raise awareness for locking motor vehicles both through the Guilford PD Facebook page as well as citizen contacts, however this has proven insufficient. An alternative response plan is being developed and will be assessed for effectiveness in the coming month.

Reference Appendix C for a graphic representation.
